Abstract

This analysis is particularly valuable in situations where the client possesses limited technological expertise.

Introduction

In this initial delivery phase, our examination centers around three tasks: one obligatory functional requirement and two optional managerial requirements. Given the straightforward nature of this phase, involving a minor feature implementation and report generation, our analysis is constrained. Hence, we lack sufficient information to conduct an in-depth report of the tasks in this delivery.

The document unfolds in the following manner: this introductory section establishes the context of the report, followed by an analysis of each task in the contents section, if appropriate. Lastly, a brief conclusion will conclude the report.

Contents

Mandatory Deliverables

Functional requirements:

1. Modify the anonymous menu so that it shows an option that takes the browser to the home page of your favourite web site. The title must read as follows: "⟨id-number⟩: ⟨surname⟩, ⟨name⟩", where "⟨id-number⟩" denotes your DNI, NIE, or passport number, "⟨surname⟩" denotes your surname/s, and "⟨name⟩" denotes your name/s.
   This requirement didn't require any additional inquiry due to its clear delineation of the final objective.

Optional Deliverables

Managerial requirements:

11. Produce an analysis report.
    This report constitutes the task under examination; thus, an in-depth analysis wasn't deemed necessary.

12. Produce a planning and progress report.
    Given the self-explanatory nature of the requirement, further analysis was deemed unnecessary.

Conclusions

In conclusion, the simplicity of the tasks outlined in this initial delivery phase rendered further evaluation unnecessary.
